CONFLICT

Which of the following best describes the central conflict of The Jungle Book stories so far?

- Mowgli is in conflict with the wolves of the pack.
- Mowgli is in conflict with the villagers' laws and ways.
- Mowgli is in conflict with his own thoughts and feelings.
- Mowgli is in conflict with Shere Khan.

Click the section of the passage below that shows what event resolves the conflict between Mowgli and Shere Khan.

A

Mowgli heard an answering bellow from the foot of the ravine and saw Shere Khan turn. The buffaloes' charge carried both herds out onto the plain, goring and stamping and snorting. Mowgli slipped off Rama's neck, laying about him right and left with his stick.

B

Akela and Gray Brother ran, nipping the buffaloes' legs, and though the herd wheeled once to charge up the ravine again, Mowgli managed to turn Rama, and the others followed him into the wallows.

C

Shere Khan needed no more trampling. He was dead, and the kites were coming for him already.

"Brothers, that was a dog's death," said Mowgli... "But he would never have shown fight. Wallah! His hide will look well on the Council Rock."

So Shere Khan is dead..... now what??

Mowgli returns to the jungle after he is cast out of the village, and Akela calls the wolves together. But a surprise awaits them at Council Rock.

Think back to Mowgli's Brothers..... the Pack cast out Mowgli AND Akela, their Leader. The Pack is now leaderless as they THOUGHT they wanted....

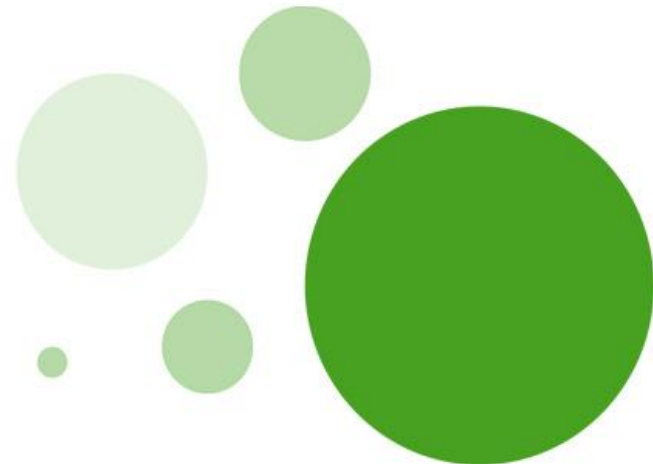

Ever since Akela had been deposed, the pack had been without a leader, hunting and fighting at their own pleasure. But they answered the call from habit; and some of them were lame from the traps they had fallen into, and some limped from shot wounds, and some were mangy from eating bad food, and many were missing. But they came to the Council Rock, all that were left of them, and saw Shere Khan's striped hide on the rock, and the huge claws dangling at the end of the empty dangling feet. It was then that Mowgli made up a song that came up into his throat all by itself, and he shouted it aloud, leaping up and down on the rattling skin, and beating time with his heels till he had no more breath left, while Gray Brother and Akela howled between the verses.

“the Free People”?????

At the beginning of the story, even though the wolves follow a strict law and take orders from a leader, they call themselves “the Free People.” Which of the following best explains why it is an appropriate name for them?

- The wolves don't have to follow the Law of the Jungle if they don't want to.
- All of the wolves follow the same laws.
- Each wolf has a say in the group's choices.
- Every wolf is free to join another pack.

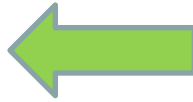

"Lead us again, O Akela. Lead us again, O Man-cub, for we be sick of this lawlessness, and we would be the Free People once more."

The wolves are tired of lawlessness. When they followed the law, everyone helped make decisions that affected the whole pack, and everyone was expected to accept those decisions. Now that they aren't following the law, they can only resolve their conflicts by fighting among themselves. They are "free" to do whatever they want, but that is not the kind of freedom they expected. Read their plea again. What do they desire?

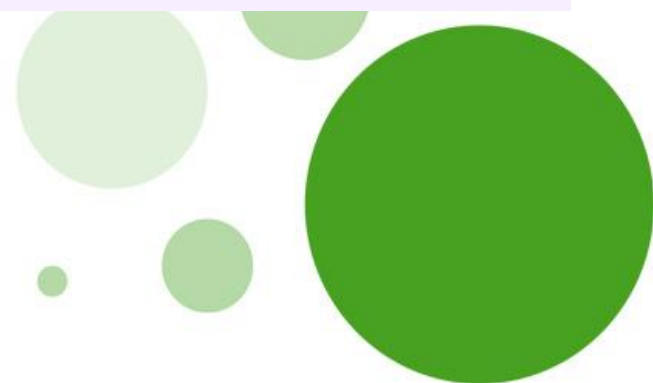

The wolves hope that Akela and Mowgli will lead them and help them live under the Law of the Jungle again. But Bagheera says,

"Nay, that may not be. When ye are full-fed, the madness may come upon you again. Not for nothing are ye called the Free People. Ye fought for freedom, and it is yours. Eat it, O Wolves."

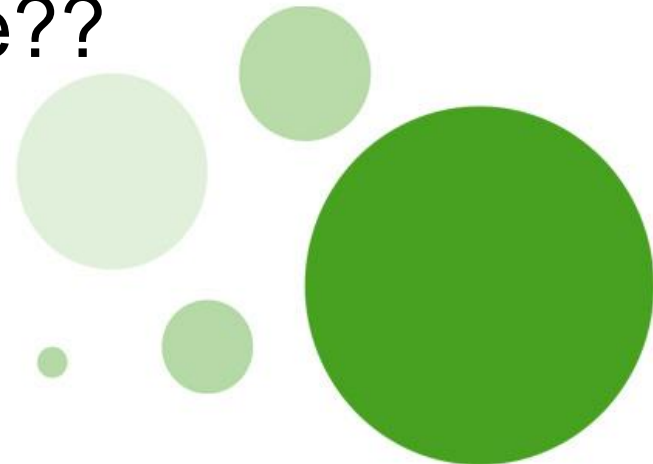

What is the meaning of Bagheera's final statement about freedom? Choose all the possible meanings that apply.

- Freedom does not just mean comfort. Freedom is a challenge; it involves risks.
- True freedom means living without a leader.
- Freedom means living with the consequences of your choices.
- The wolves think they are fighting for freedom, but they achieve only lawlessness instead.

So is freedom really FREEDOM??

- Are the wolves more free when they obey the Law and work as a Pack or when they fight and do as they please? WHY??
- What is Kipling saying about society and society laws?? Do you agree??
